WOMAN COOK AND HER FRIEND HELD IN KIDNAPPING OF BABY FROM CRIB IN NORRISTOWN

Woman Was Employed Three Days Last April in the Coughlin Home.

REWARD IS NOW $7,500.

Anonymous Letter May Reveal Identity of Actual Perpetrator of Baffling Crime.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 4.—James Malone is under arrest in Philadelphia, following the arrest yesterday at Cochocton, Pa., of Catherine Dundon, a former cook in the family of George H. Coughlin, whose thirteen months old son Blakely was stolen from the nursery in the Coughlin home here Wednesday evening. The only information given out regarding the arrest of Dundon is that he is a friend of the Dundon woman.

Catherine Dundon is held merely as a suspicious person. The private detectives who made the arrest declined to give any information regarding their action except that she was for three days in the Coughlin household in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Coughlin, after offering a reward of $6,000 for the return of the child in response to an anonymous letter, apparently written by the kidnapers, made it known to-day that so far as they were concerned they would try to secure full immunity if the baby is returned unharmed. The County Commissioners have offered an additional reward of $1,500.

The letter, covering four pages, bears a Norristown postmark, having been dropped in a box not far from the Coughlin home. It was addressed to "The Parents of the Stolen Child on Sandy Hill," and signed "A Stranger in Norristown." The penmanship is vertical, as if written by a schoolboy or girl. The salient feature is the allegation that the writer stole the baby, and to prove it Coughlin is referred to three times on the all of the window of the nursery through which the baby was carried out to the ladder. There are nicknames on the self. Hence, the credence in the authenticity of the missive. It is also said the letter asks a substantial sum of money for the return of the child and calls for acceptance by advertisements in the Norristown papers.

It is in response to this request that the $6,000 reward is offered. It is said friends of Coughlin came to his rescue financially because he is not able to produce the sum demanded.

Just how the child is to be delivered and how the money is to be paid is not made public. A friend of the family said the plans are secret because it is not desired to make a step that would endanger the child.

The character of the writing leads to the belief that the letter was written by a child in a family of foreigners—a child who has attended the public schools and learned writing there, and has written the letter at the dictation of some one who took the child for ransom.

Charles Communion Set Stolen.
Thieves broke into the First Reformed Church of Yonkers last night and stole the silver communion set, worth about $1,500, which was presented to the church in 1868 by the late Capt. Joseph Peene. The theft was discovered this morning by the sexton, Thomas Hudd.

BABY BOY WHOSE KIDNAPPING LED TO ARREST OF WOMAN

BLAKELY COUGHLIN

MOTHER ACCUSED OF THROWING BABY UNDER AN AUTO

"Didn't Want to Be Tied Down," Police Say Brooklyn
Woman Told Them.

Mary Marino, a comely young Italian woman of No. 2048 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, was made a prisoner this afternoon in Liberty Avenue Police Station, Brooklyn, after the police say, she confessed that she had thrown her five-years-old daughter under an automobile because she "didn't want to be bothered with the care of her."

Evangeline, the little girl, her skull fractured when she was knocked down by a car owned and operated by Samuel Miller of No. 1233 Eastern Parkway, and in a critical condition in St. Mary's Hospital.

Mother and child were crossing Rockaway Avenue at Eastern Parkway, hand in hand, when Miller and several pedestrians, according to the police, were horrified to see the mother shove the girl in front of the machine.

"Well, what's the use?" policemen say the mother asked them. "My husband and I are separated. Why should I be bothered with his child? I'm young. I don't want to be tied down. I didn't want to be bothered with her."

Jersey Prohibition Director
Demo Admits He Saw
Drinks Served.

NEWARK MAYOR THERE.

Champagne and Whiskey at Affair for Revenue Man,
It Is Reported.

George A. Demo, Prohibition Enforcement Director for New Jersey with headquarters at Newark, confided to callers to-day that he was in a sad state of bewilderment and indecision.

Mr. Demo attended the dinner given to Internal Revenue Collector Charles V. Duffy at the Robert Treat Hotel Wednesday night, celebrating the impending departure of Duffy for the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco.

Among others who were present were Democratic Leader James R. Nugent, Mayor C. P. Gilman and pretty much all official Newark.

It was noted yesterday at City Hall that many officials were A. W. O. L. from their desks. Some of the absentees were found in hammocks in their front yards and in cool and other sequestered spots during the day plainingly remarking that all in the world they wanted was for everybody to leave them alone. There was much talk in families and in less domestic gathering places regarding reports that large quantities of champagne and whiskey circulated at the banquet.

Curious persons sought out Director Demo and asked him if the rumor as to the presence of contraband was true and if he had seen any unlawful drinks.

"Yes," he said, after considerable thought, "I did. I puzzled about the matter all through dinner and all night and all day yesterday. Because of the caliber of the persons present, their high reputation and responsibility, I am frankly at a loss to know what I can do except to report my observations to Supervising Director Leo A. Croswen of the Middle Atlantic States District at Philadelphia. I shall do that; yes, I am sure that is the thing to do."

Director Demo said later that owing to the importance of the case he had decided not to make a written report of the dinner but to go to Philadelphia either to-morrow or Monday and personally lay the matter before his chief, Director Croswen.

When he was asked specifically about the drinkables alleged to have been served at the dinner he said that he could not swear that any intoxicants were served. He saw some amber and dark red fluids served, but he neither tasted nor smelled them; he cannot declare them to have been alcoholic. There was also something that looked like lemonade, he added, which was poured from pitchers, but he was likewise in ignorance of what this was.

He was asked whether he had seen any intoxicated persons at the dinner, and this he refused to answer until he had had a conference with his chief. About the dinner in general, he said:

"Such dinners are possible in New Jersey on account of the red tape which ties my hands. Here, by decision of the courts, we cannot go to a place and seize intoxicants or liquors of any kind without a search warrant. Even then, warrants issued under the Volstead Act have been found to be faulty and we have lost several cases.

"Prohibition enforcement agents must get all their evidence and have their cases complete before they can get warrants."
